

Faculty View Vs. Student View

Faculty View

Awaiting submission – Faculty are expecting a submission from the student.

Nothing was previously submitted.*

The student has previously submitted, but a resubmission was requested by the faculty member.

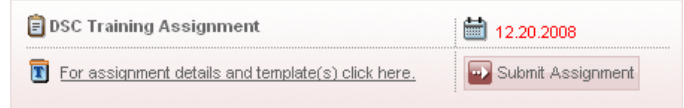

*Names appearing in Red will not be able to see their assignments or submit through the dashboard.

Awaiting Assessment – The student has submitted an artifact, but it has not been graded or scored yet.

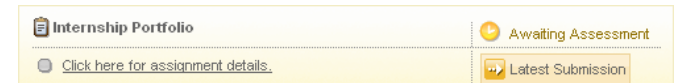

Student View

If nothing has been submitted, the button will read “Submit Assignment”

If a resubmission was requested, the button on the student’s dashboard will change to “Resubmit Assignment”

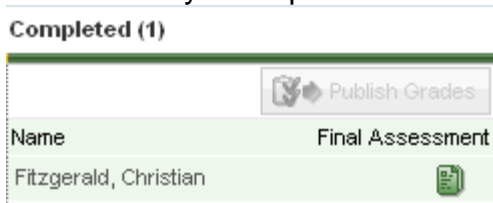

The student can view what they submitted, but cannot resubmit without the instructor selecting “Request Resubmission”

Assessment Completed - After the rubric or grades have been submitted, the students' names will appear in the green column.

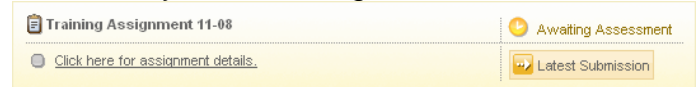

The student has been graded, but the grades have not been released to the student yet.

If the Publish Grades button is grayed out, the grades have already been published

Before the grades are available, the student will not see any status change.

Submitted grades and rubric scores will be viewable on the student dashboard.
